1.	In recent decades, urban gardening has emerged as a powerful response to pressing urban challenges—food security, climate resilience, and mental health. Defined as the cultivation of edibles and greenery within city environments, urban gardening flourishes in diverse settings: balconies, rooftops, vacant plots, schoolyards, and vertical structures. One of the most celebrated benefits is food security. Urban gardens help bridge fresh produce gaps, especially in food-desert neighborhoods with limited access to nutritious options. A 2021 study revealed that community gardeners consumed fruits and vegetables nearly 1.5 times more daily than non-gardeners. These gardens empower residents to grow their own, reducing reliance on distant supply chains and promoting self-sufficiency. Beyond nutrition, urban gardens offer environmental and ecological advantages. For instance, plants in gardens improve air quality by absorbing pollutants and mitigating the urban heat-island effect, where concrete-dense cities trap heat . Additionally, such spaces enhance biodiversity by serving as habitats for insects and birds, even supporting pollinators in the smallest urban pockets. Mental health and social well-being also receive a boost. Gardening—whether solo or in communal plots—reduces stress, anxiety, and loneliness by offering therapeutic contact with nature and community interaction. This has been especially true during crises like the COVID-19 pandemic, when many turned to gardening to cope with isolation.

	Innovative techniques like hydroponics and vertical farming have surged in popularity ,allowing large yields in tight urban spaces with up to 90% less water usage compared to traditional farming. These methods, combined with composting and rainwater harvesting, make urban gardens practical and eco-friendly. Nevertheless, challenges persist. Urban soil contamination, high real estate costs, and lack of technical know-how can hinder garden development. Safe growing often requires raised beds with tested, clean soil or thoughtful site selection. Despite obstacles, the momentum towards sustainable, community-powered urban greenery continues to grow. Urban gardens are becoming indispensable in crafting resilient cities—combining nourishment, ecological balance, and human connection.

2. Answer the following questions, based on given passage

Average Daily Screen Time Among Teenagers

Over the past decade, teenagers' screen usage patterns have shifted considerably.

The rise of smartphones, faster internet access, and an increase in online platforms have driven a marked increase in daily screen time. Below is a table summarizing how teenagers aged 13–19 spent their time across various screen activities:

Year	Social Media	Online Gaming	Educational Use	Others
2018	2.5 hours	1.5 hours	1.0 hour	0.5 hours
2019	3.0 hours	1.8 hours	1.1 hours	0.6 hours
2020	4.2 hours	2.5 hours	1.8 hours	0.8 hours
2021	4.5 hours	2.7 hours	2.0 hours	0.9 hours
2022	4.0 hours	2.4 hours	1.9 hours	0.7 hours

From the data, social media consistently consumed the most screen time, peaking at 4.5 hours/day in 2021. Similarly, online gaming saw a steep incline from 1.5 hours in 2018 to 2.7 hours in 2021, likely driven by increased engagement during lockdowns. A notable trend is the rise in educational screen usage, which jumped from 1.1 hours in 2019 to 2.0 hours in 2021, reflecting the shift to online learning during the pandemic. Although 2022 data shows a slight reduction in all categories—except for still-elevated educational use—screen time remains significantly above pre-pandemic levels, suggesting lingering behavioural changes. Experts caution about prolonged screen exposure: potential repercussions include eye strain,

headaches, sedentary habits, anxiety, poor sleep, and reduced concentration. To manage these challenges, health professionals recommend balancing digital time with physical activity, offline hobbies, and face-to-face social interaction. i	In which year did social media use among teens peak? a) 2019 b) 2020 c) 2021 d) 2022	1

ii	By how much did educational screen use increase from 2019 to 2021? a) 0.5 hour b) 0.9 hour c) 0.7 hour d) 1.0 hour	1
iii	Which category did not show a notable increase during the pandemic? a) Social Media b) Online Gaming c) Others d) Educational Use	1
iv	A health concern linked to prolonged screen time is: a) Improved concentration b) Enhanced social skills c) Better posture d) Poor sleep	1
v	Suggest two negative physical or mental outcomes of excessive screen time, as discussed in the passage.	2
vi	Why did educational screen time remain high in 2022, even after restrictions eased?	2
vii	Recommend one lifestyle strategy mentioned in the passage that can help mitigate screen-time issues for teenagers.	2
